The Course

Students will work in small groups on technique and solo repertoire, and also together in a harp ensemble. Each student has a practice room, and the opportunity to take part in a harp maintenance workshop.

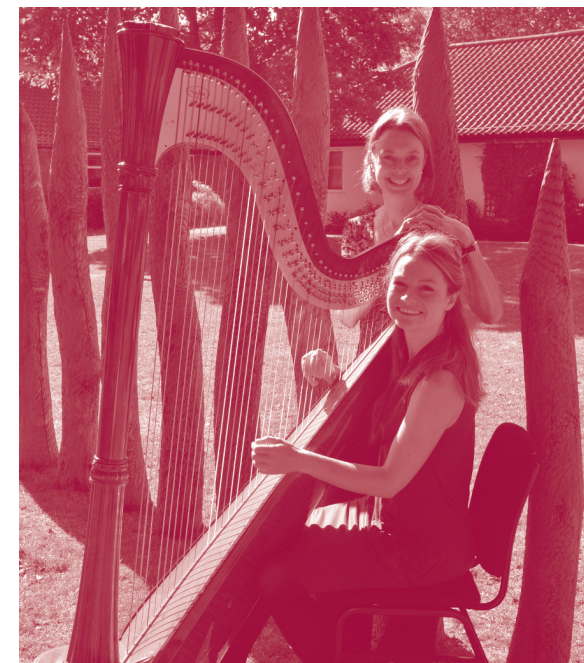

Leisure activities include shopping in Clarks Village, a visit to Glastonbury Tor and the use of Millfield sports facilities. There will be a celebrity recital given by Eleanor Turner (sponsored by Vining Harps), and the course will end with a student concert.

Ruth Faber

Ruth Faber studied the harp with Marisa Robles at the Royal College of Music. She has worked regularly with the London orchestras and appeared as a soloist on BBC radio and television. Teaching is an important part of Ruth's life. She currently teaches at Wells Cathedral and Millfield Schools, Bristol and Bath Spa Universities.

Eleanor Turner

Eleanor Turner started learning the harp at the age of 5 and began her formal musical education at the Royal College of Music Junior Department with Daphne Bowden. In 2007 Eleanor won first prize and the William Mathias prize in the Cardiff European Harp Competition. After winning the Worshipful Company of Musicians' Maisie Lewis Award in 2008, Eleanor performed at the Wigmore Hall in London. Since then, she has given many recitals across the UK and Europe. Eleanor also composes and has had commissions from the Park Lane Group and Independent Ballet Wales.
